

EXPECT RUSSIANS TO HALT ON REACHING TEUTON FRONTIER

By Cable to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920.

BERLIN, July 31.—Germany is asking herself, "Will or will not the Russians halt when the German frontier is reached?" The majority seem to think that they will halt.

Russian cavalry patrols are on the east Prussian frontier. This does not necessarily signify a junction of Russia with Germany, for a neutral area lies between the bolsheviks and the Germans. The Russians, it is believed, will halt in the hope that a German movement will prepare favorable ground for a further advance later. A halt also is counseled by the expectation that the harvest is to be gathered next month.

The Russian army is fighting with a nationalistic spirit and its officers, who are proud to be a part of the winning army, are fighting the Poles for the former Russian territory and the old imperialistic aims, including the possession of Constantinople.

Those thinking that the Russians will not halt give as their reason the fact that the communist leaders survive only with the aid of the military, and the disbanding of the army would mean the loss of their power. It is also pointed out that several counter-revolutionary groups hold areas within the soviet territory. The largest area is in the center of Ukraine, where Gen. Makino has an army of 170,000 well equipped men. It is said that Gen. Makino organized the farmers for their own protection and told them, "We do not need the railroads since we cannot ship the crops, but the reds can use them to send an expedition against us." So the railroads were destroyed.

Gen. Makino opposes all comers, whether Russian or Poles, and followers of Denikin, Wrangel or Petlura. From 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 people live in this free region.

Probably the reds will halt through transportation difficulties and content themselves with a campaign of propaganda against the smaller opposing states.

ALASKA FLIGHT DELAYED.

U. S. Aviators Return to Alberta When Leak Develops.

EDMONTON, Alberta, July 31.—All four American airplanes flying from Minneola, N. Y., to Nome, Alaska, which jumped off here today for Jasper, returned within an hour when a leak was discovered in the gasoline tank of one machine.

Low-hanging clouds were given as a further cause of turning back Capt. Street, in charge of the squadron, declared the poor visibility made further flight dangerous.

EXPECT 800 MIDDIES.

Naval Academy Authorities Preparing for New Class.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 31.—Naval Academy authorities do not now fear that the new class of midshipmen will be below its quota. The number admitted up to today was 658, and it is thought that the new class will exceed 800.

All of those who passed mentally have not been examined physically as yet, and there is reason to believe the candidates will report in considerable number for the examinations beginning August 18.

The new class includes fifty-one members appointed from the enlisted ranks of the Navy and Marine Corps.

EUROPE DRIVEN BACK TO MIDDLE AGES BY WARS

BY GEORGE WITTE.

By Cable to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920.

ON THE SOUTHERN POLISH FRONT, July 31.—I have spent several weeks in the war zone in Galicia and the Ukraine, and from the amount of misery I have seen I have come to the conclusion that the thing for this part of Europe is peace at any price.

The general living conditions of the people are appalling, approaching the uncivilized status of the middle ages. The ruined, crumbling wooden houses are about to collapse entirely, yet they are still inhabited. Stone buildings have been wrecked, but people live among their ruins.

Sanitation of all sorts, whether by sterilized water, electrical or gas appliances, has long been obliterated, with typhus as the inevitable result. The victims are lying in a dying condition in the streets. Whole families are jammed into one room. Sadler still are the ruins of entire villages wiped out by the wars which have swept over this region since 1914. Only a wall here, a chimney there and charred debris everywhere mark the spot where six years ago an assemblage of human beings lived happily together.

There is only one desire in the hearts of the inhabitants, and that is for peace, through an armistice if possible, or through an effective campaign if necessary, but, above all, peace.

CARDS OF THANKS.

BEATTIE. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors for their sympathy and beautiful floral tributes given at the death of our dearly beloved mother, MARY D. BEATTIE.

HENNING. We wish to express to our relatives and friends our sincere appreciation of the kind expressions of sympathy, the beautiful floral tributes and the helpful advice their friends on the occasion of the death of our mother, MARY D. BEATTIE.

SCOTT. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our neighbors, friends and relatives for their sympathy, kindness and beautiful floral tributes given at the death of our dear, beloved mother, MARGIE SCOTT.

HER CHILDREN.

DIED.

WEBER. On Saturday, July 31, 1920, at Garfield Hospital, EDWIN L. WEBER, beloved husband of Lela Weber. Notice of funeral hereafter.

YORIS. Suddenly, Thursday, July 29, 1920, at 9:45 o'clock, at her home, 447 M. st. n. w., Mrs. D. M. YORIS (nee Padgett). She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Rose E. Padgett, and one son, William E. Padgett, of Wichita, Kan. Have you a mother? Love her well. Wait not till death shall call her hence. To know her precious worth. Oh, how she has been a blessing of pain. He gently and be mild: How sweet 'twill be for you to know You've been a faithful child.

YORIS. Thursday, July 29, 1920, at 9:45 p. m., 1114 M. st. n. w., beloved wife of Charles Yoris, aged 57 years. Funeral from her late residence, 447 M. st. n. w., on Monday, August 2, at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Interment at Glenwood cemetery.

DANGER IN SENDING TEUTONS AGAINST REDS RECOGNIZED

lost. But what will follow? The French and British good will toward Poland has expressed itself so far in drafting notes of good advice. The bottom problem is still untouched.

Troubles in Poland.

The red army is progressing toward Warsaw, while the Polish armies are turned into disorganized bands and the Polish politicians are struggling among themselves in order to determine whether they will make war with the entente backing or conclude a peace following the installation of a socialist cabinet. Pilsudski, in order to obtain new power, is trying to force the latter course of action.

According to many competent people, the red army, if no new opposition develops, may be expected to reach Warsaw by the middle of August. In order to check it and compel it to retreat, what steps are being taken by the western powers? They are, in fact, entirely inadequate.

According to the calculations of the French general staff, an expeditionary force of 200,000 men would be necessary for the defeat of this Russian offensive. But so far as is known, not one British or French statesman until now has dared to propose, or even seriously to consider, the dispatch of such a force for such a purpose.

Subordinate military and diplomatic representatives have asked for the transport of allied troops which now gathering in Siberia and the allied detachments which now garrison Allenstein and Marienwerder, in the hope that the appearance of the French, British and Italian flags would be sufficient to turn the tide.

But very wisely the request has not been granted. Millerand and Lloyd George are staking everything upon the theory that the Polish government will have the determination and power to reform its army and wage a successful battle in defense and that the bolshevik troops will lose efficiency as their lines of communication are more and more extended. Jussard and his colleagues, now at Warsaw, are acting on that assumption.

Gen. Rydzynski's Efforts.

Gen. Rydzynski is trying to induce Pilsudski to give real executive authority to six hundred French officers belonging to the military mission, who, so far, have played mere figure-head parts, a fact for which their leader, Gen. Hanry, who allowed himself to be caajoled by the head of the Polish state, is being severely reproached.

I still hope that this very short-sighted and timid policy will prove better than is expected by competent people, but if the worst comes to the worst, what then?

It must be admitted that the worst will be the worst. On the British side a startling alternative course already has been considered seriously. This is nothing less than an invasion of Germany with the mission and responsibility of protecting the rest of Europe against the Russian offensive.

At Spa Lloyd George said to Millerand a few words which clearly pointed to that policy, while yesterday Winston Churchill developed the same theme in the London newspapers.

It is obvious that were such a method to be adopted the Versailles treaty would be reduced to atoms. France is resolved to reject it unconditionally.

The standpoint which Millerand took when dealing with the matter at Spa was that Germany must be kept within the terms of the treaty all the more rigidly; that the watch on the Rhine ought to be made all the more efficient if through disaster in Poland the Berlin government was enabled to increase its powers of resistance against the western powers.

Germany may be expected to do everything and to do it successfully in order to curb the bolshevik undertaking. But she must not be paid for this at the expense of treaty. However she will be given an opportunity for a huge financial blackmail, which she will thoroughly exploit.

SHIP STICKS ON WAYS.

Bidwell Christened Without Launching by Two Sponsors.

BALTIMORE, July 31.—After working for five hours to release the ship, the United States Shipping Board steamship Bidwell was christened without being launched this afternoon.

Two sponsors, the Misses Elizabeth and Anne Huntley Gordon, prominent society girls, had been selected to christen the ship and after waiting five hours they jointly broke a bottle of water over the bow and christened the ship, which is still on the ways, being possibly the first time a ship was ever christened without being launched.

The vessel is a 10,250 deadweight ton steel tanker and is 430 feet long, 59 foot beam and 23 feet depth.

POLAND FACING FAMINE.

"Crisis Will Be Heartbreaking," Says American Red Cross Worker.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Compelled by the bolshevik advance to leave her crops unharvested and with her transportation system disrupted, Poland is on the threshold of a national food shortage as winter approaches. Lieut. Col. Albert J. Chesley said on his arrival here today after a three-months abroad as head of American Red Cross work in Poland.

The crisis which now confronts Poland, Col. Chesley said, "is nothing short of heartbreaking for the great peasant class, who have worked so hard and who are now facing primitive farming and manufacturing implements to place the new nation on a stable basis."

He said a recurrence of the typhus epidemic on a milder scale than last year is feared when cold weather sets in.

POLES HUNTED IN DANZIG.

Americans Lend Their Overcoats to Officers to Escape.

WARSAW, July 30.—Reports continue to be received of the ill-treatment aroused against the Poles in Danzig. It recently manifested itself, according to the dispatches, when a number of Poles were attacked in the streets. Angry crowds searched the railway depot for Poles, and several officers escaped only with the help of Americans, who lent them their overcoats.

The tense situation is declared to have been caused by refusal of the dockers to unload a ship of ammunition for Poland, which task was later undertaken by British soldiers.

AMERICANS TO LEAVE.

All Will Withdraw From Warsaw Before Reds Occupy City.

WARSAW, July 28.—Plans for the withdrawal of all Americans from Warsaw, if necessary, owing to the advance of the bolshevik forces, have virtually been completed.

COMB RUINS FOR BODIES.

Death Toll of Philadelphia Fire Now Two.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—A man and a woman perished and nine others were hurt in a fire which yesterday destroyed several factory buildings on 4th street north of Arch.

Firemen combed the ruins all night. No additional bodies were found. Though he believes the death toll will not mount higher than two, Acting Chief Davis of the fire department ordered fifty firemen to search the wreckage today. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

IN MEMORIAM.

BRADKAMP. In loving remembrance of our darling son and brother, JOHN E. BRADKAMP, who was so suddenly taken from us one year ago today, August 1, 1919. Anniversary mass will be said at St. Alvarius Church August 5, 1920, at 7 o'clock mass.

O God, what a weight of sorrow Must be lonely one, the empty bed And a lonely, vacant chair. Lovingly and tenderly I laid him to rest. Away from earth's sorrows and care. And now he is waiting to welcome me home. With a blessing of heaven to share. HIS LOVING MOTHER, BROTHER AND SISTER.

CRISMON. In sacred memory of my beloved father, LOUIS E. CRISMON, who departed this life this eighteen years ago today, August 1, 1918. (Moscow, Seattle.) HIS DAUGHTER DORA.

ELLIS. In loving remembrance of our devoted mother, who departed this life two years ago today, August 1, 1918.

Day by day I saw her fade, And slowly pass away. But in my heart I often prayed That she might longer stay. How I long for you, dear mother, When I am all alone. Memory is the only friend That grief can call its own. BY HER LOVING DAUGHTER, MRS. LULA PERLEY.

DEARLY DEPARTED DAUGHTER ELIZABETH. A. FAY, Jr., loving remembrance of our dear daughter, ELIZABETH A. FAY, who departed this life six years ago today, August 1, 1914.

"Loved in life; in death remembered." BY THE DEVOTED FAMILY.

GORDON. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear daughter, JANE GORDON (nee Gibson), who departed this life two years ago today, August 1, 1918.

Two years ago this very day, Death stole in and took our beloved one away To her eternal home on high. In my memory she lives and shall never die. In God's home of endless beauty. Jane is a shining star. Dwelling in that holy city. With the golden gates ajar.

The value of death was wonderful. Than the hills where she trod. And the peace that entered her spirit. Was the calm peace of God. There is no grief that cannot be healed. And sorrow deep in the human heart that cannot be revealed. (Louisville, Ky., papers please copy.)

HOY. In memory of my father, ROBERT HOY, who departed this life eighteen months ago today, February 1, 1919. MAGGIE.

MEYER. Sacred to the memory of our dear beloved daughter and sister, BERTHA T. MEYER, who departed this life six years ago today, August 1, 1914.

We miss you in your home, dear; We miss you in your place. A shadow o'er our life is cast: We miss the sunshine of your face. HIS LOVING MOTHER AND SISTER.

POOLE. In loving remembrance of ALICE E. POOLE, who departed this life one year ago today, August 1, 1919.

I often sit and wonder to the grave far away, where we laid the one we loved so dear. God, but not forgotten. MAMMA.

POOLE. In loving remembrance of ALICE E. POOLE, who departed this life one year ago today, August 1, 1919.

What is a home without a mother? One who was always kind and true; one that we always could depend upon. She is not forgotten. DAUGHTER EFFIE.

SEWENT. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear daughter, ANNIE E. SEWENT, who departed this life five years ago today, at 10:30 a. m., August 1, 1919.

When the evening shades are gathering And I am sitting all alone In my quiet room, I long That she may again come home. I try to prevent that longing. In this world of grief and fun. But I am always thinking, thinking, Thinking that she may come back again. HER DEVOTED HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

THOMAS. In sad but loving remembrance of our mother and grandmother, HARRIET THOMAS, who departed this life ten years ago today, August 1, 1910.

Loftily and tenderly she laid her to rest. Away from earth's sorrow and care. And now she is waiting to welcome us home.

With the blessings of heaven to share. HIS LOVING MOTHER AND SISTER.

TWIFORD. In sad and loving remembrance of our dear wife and mother, LOURANE TWIFORD, who departed this life six years ago today, August 1, 1914.

God claimed our darling mother. To fill her place there is no other. HER DEVOTED HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

WAGNER. In sad but loving memory of my dear mother, DEBORAH WAGNER, who died four years ago today, August 1, 1916.

May the heavenly angels blow songs of glory over your sweet and hallowed grave. Mid the changing scenes of life, dear mother, Sweet is the memory which will never fade. HER DAUGHTER BATTIE.

WAGNER. In sad but loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, DEBORAH WAGNER, who died four years ago today, August 1, 1916.

We often sit and think of thee when all alone. For memory is the only thing that grief can call its own. God taught the loved ones on our homes. But he never forgot our hearts. We leave thee in our sweetest. The parting was painful, but God knoweth best. HER MOTHER AND SISTER.

WELAN. Sacred to the memory of my dear husband, WILLIAM WELAN, who departed this life three years ago today, August 1, 1917. Anniversary mass will be said at St. Alvarius Church, 234 st. between G and H sts. n. w. HIS LOVING WIFE.

WILSON. In loving remembrance of my beloved husband, ROBERT WILSON, who died two years ago today, August 1, 1918.

Two years have passed; my heart's still sore. The time goes on I miss you more. HIS DEVOTED WIFE, ELIZABETH WILSON.
